

Various, Thok and Jebadoah were in the tavern talking amongst themselves having just helped out the local farmers clear out some goblins that were being a problem. A towns guard came in to post a job on the notice board. Jeb being curious got up to check what it was, while Various and Thok where seeing who killed the most goblins. Jeb looks at what the guard just posted on the notice board which reads, "Help wanted to capture the leader of a notorious criminal group known as the Vipers Fang." Jeb after reading this rips it off the board and brings it back to the table, Various and Thok look at it and agree to go do the job.

As Various, Jeb and Thok go to the guards barracks to inquire further information on the job, when asking the towns guard, they all responded with, "That job? You're going to have to ask the black guard about it. We just posted it for them" Various, Thok and Jebadoah now even more curious for the black guard, who are the secret service of the king and known for making people disappear for just sneezing in the presence of the King.

Various Thok and Jeb all look at each other and headed to the black tower, the known headquarters of the black guard. As they approach two guards in black armour approached them. As they do, the guard on the right say, "Stop! What sort of business does a Naive, half Orc and a Wood Elf have with the black guard?" Jeb looks at Various and Thok, who used to be town guards, and ask "what do we say?" Various looks at him grabs the piece of paper and shows the black guard and says, "Why I think this should answer any and all questions." The black guard then looks at the paper and says, "Alright then proceed to the top floor and talk to Raven, she should fill you in."

Jeb Thok and Various then walk into the tower noticing there are no stairs. As crystals begin to glow, then flash the next thing they know there on the top floor of the tower and in front of a person who states, "I take it your here for the job? To help deal with the Vipers Fang correct?" Various without thinking says, "You mean there are more problems you black guards can't handle?" The person then says, "My name is Raven and leader of the black guard and we can handle anything. We just need a group of people to provide a distraction, so when can apprehend the leader and rescue a dragon egg, all before tomorrow. Or else the dragon will be back to burn the town down. Is there anything else you care to add?"

Various then takes a step back and states, "Sorry, I Various, do apologise for my rudeness, the name is Jebadoah, and the half orc is Thok. What kind of distraction do you want or need?" Raven then responds with, "Anything you three can come up with should service. Meet my men down in the industrial area in Warehouse 15." She then snaps her fingers and with a flash of light, Various, Thok and Jebadoah where back at the front of the tower.

Thok then says out loud “Okay, I really hate magic! What just happened?” Various and Jeb in unison say “Teleportation just happened!” They turn to start heading to the industrial area and as they approach Warehouse 15 another black guard calls them around to the back and inside the warehouse, where there is a total of 25 black guards all getting geared up. Standing there, briefing them all, is Raven. She looks at them, “Good! The distraction is here. And what kind of distraction are you three going to be?”

Various and Jeb sit to think of a distraction. Then Thok goes, “One of us can be a bear, Jeb can then ride the bear. Various, Jeb and Raven in unison then say, “What about you?” Thok then goes “Oh yeah” Various then states, “We can do a bear, that’s no issue. Jeb riding me? I’m not so sure on.” Jeb then states “I may be small, but I can’t just ride a bear.” Various continues his train of thought, “Advertisement for a circus I turn into a bear. Thok can play his lute. Jeb can use thaumaturgy to make his voice loud, to be heard by all to get their attention.”

Thok and Jeb look at each other and agree to this plan. Thok then says, “As a bear, can you dance?” Various stops and says, “You want a dancing bear? Not a problem, I can do that!” Thok then yells, “Operation Dancing Bear.”

Various, Thok and Jebadoah make their way down the street (Various, having wild shaped into a bear). Various in bear form, dancing to Thok's lute music. The two make their way down the street, followed by Jeb saying, "Come to the Silver Fern Circus! See our wonderful duo, Dancing bear and Thok the musically talented half Orc."

As the trio continue to make their way down town, and once they have sight of the Vipers Fang hideout. Thok changed song on his lute, giving Various the cue that the hideout was coming up. But because Thok never explained this, Various just thought we were improvising. So Various just went on a rampage as a bear. Thok and Jeb then start yelling, "The bear is going berserk! Everyone run!"

As Thok and Jeb create a panic, Various takes a run at the door, knocking it off its hinges. Jeb and Thok start to run, to back Various up, and as they do, Various rolls through the door dropping his bear form, and as he comes up he fires off two arrows, killing two members of the Vipers Fang.

Thok, charging in with his axe starts to fight another member, as Jeb gets behind Various and ask, "Why did you go on a rampage?" Various responds with, "I thought we were improvising."

They continue into the building, following their half orc friend. Various then puts his bow away and pulls out his falchion to start fighting several more members of the Vipers Fang alongside Thok, with Jeb at the back, casting magical weapon. This continued until the Vipers Fang group where either killed or captured.