

Dimensions of Love

A

Damn, what is this she thought. He's unstoppable! Nearly everyone had been taken down, fighting Zarc, to save Yuya from his grasp. Even Leo Akaba, Declan's father, had been taken down, even with the four cards to seal away Zarc for good.

"Guess I'll stand up to this."

"Jacqui?!" Declan exclaimed.

"It's ok, Declan. I got this," She said as she stepped forward and activated her duel disk. Even though she was a champion in the Synchro Dimension, on the level of Jack Atlas, she was nervous. Even the Master of Faster was taken down too. This was a life or death situation. All their lives depended on this one battle.

"My my, why if it isn't the world famous dueling pop star. Ready to be taken down?" Zarc taunted.

"Stop it, Yuya! This isn't you! Don't let Zarc manipulate you! I know you're still there somewhere, fighting to save yourself from him.” She yelled back.

“She’s right,” Declan replied. “The Yuya we know is still in there somewhere.” He turned to Jacqui and nodded. “You sure you can do this?”

“What else do we have to lose?” She said back. “It’s fight or die. Let’s go!~”. She sung out loud and drew from her deck, ready to duel.

Intrusion Penalty: 2000 Life Points.

“Alright! So, for my first move, I activate the spell card, Cards of Consonance. I then discord one Dragon-type Tuner Monster from my hand to my graveyard.”

Declan smiled. “Nice. She’s got her combo going.”

“I now activate White Stone of Legend’s effect from my graveyard. Since it got sent to my graveyard, I can add a Blue Eyes White Dragon from my deck to my hand.”

Sweet she thought. Let's go

“For my next move, I summon Keeper of Dragon Magic and activate its effect. If I send a card from my hand to my graveyard, I can add Polymerization from my deck to my hand.”

Zarc stood there in shock but she just smirked.

“Now I activate Keeper of Dragon Magic's second effect. If I reveal a fusion monster in my Extra Deck whose name is listed on the monster in my graveyard, I can summon it in face-down defence position.”

“Nice!” Sylvio exclaimed.

“And now, I activate the field spell, Mausoleum of White. I send one normal monster from my deck to my graveyard and my monster gains 100 attack and defence equal to the level of the monster I send to the graveyard, and since my Blue Eyes is level 8, it gains 800 attack and defence so now my Blue Eyes has 3800 Attack! For my next move, I activate the quick play spell, Silver's Cry, to revive the Blue Eyes I just sent to my graveyard.”

Here it comes Declan thought.

“For my final move, I activate the spell card, Polymerization. Come on out, Blue Eyes Ultimate Dragon.” And everyone cheered, she smirked. “And now Zarc, I end my turn.”

“Nice show!” He scoffed. “Too bad, this is about to be the showstopper.”

-

-

Even after Jacqui’s turn, she had been completely wiped out by Zarc. Declan even came in after her, helping her up, after her defeat. Then, his little brother, Riley, who turned out to be Leo’s daughter, Ray, stepped in and sealed away Zarc for good. Everything was back to normal. Well, almost back to normal. All the dimension had combined into the Pendulum dimension and everyone had gained to ability to pendulum summon. Zarc had been sealed away inside Riley, who was now a baby, who never smiled until Declan and Yuya had one last duel with high stakes. Yuya would duel and win but he also had to make Riley smile, which he did which meant Zarc's dark magic was gone for good. After that duel, Declan had ask to talk to Jacqui in private.

"You wanted to see me, Declan?" She said.

"Yes, I did. Now that the whole war between the dimensions and Zarc is over, I wanted to have a personal conversation with you."

Placing his hand on her shoulder, they both walked out of Declan's office and into the streets, specifically the street where they first met and then walked onto a bridge.

"So..." Jacqui said as she finally broke the silence. "What did you want to talk about?"

Declan blushed and stayed silent. "How do I put this...I-I have feelings for you, and I wanted to say something, but these things, I'm not the best with, and the fight with Zarc happened, so none of us could afford getting distracted."

“I-It’s ok, Declan. After all the bad relationships I’ve had, I’ve found it hard to love,” she said solemnly. “But since I dueled you in the Friendship Cup, I knew you were something special.”

He went bright red. “W-Wow. I...same here. But since my father left the company, I never had time to think about love,” and he took her hands. “I’m glad you decided to join the Lancers.”

“Thank you, Declan.”

He smirked. “How you made me love you is beyond me,” and he chuckled. “After that first duel, you never left my mind,” and he brought her in for a kiss. “I love you, Jacqui.”

She smiled. “I love you too, Declan.”

After standing on the bridge, they walked off into the sunset, thinking what the cards had in store for them, but at least they could face it, together.