Chapter one

In this story some zombies walk, and some run.

It starts to rain. A man is walking down a dark moonlit street. It was called dessert street. It's 3am and no one is out apart from him and another man who was holding a woman up to a wall. The man walking in the rain spotted them arguing, as well as 4 other men. "Hey, leave her alone!", the man shouted. Two of the men grabbed the guy holding the woman up to the wall and pulled him to the ground. The man holding the woman throws her to the ground. He takes out his gun, walks up to him and points his gun straight at him. "You should have kept walking", the man said. He then shot the man square in the heart. The woman looks at the dead body with shock on her face. She then starts to crawl, trying get away from the five, menacing men. One of the men grab her, pushes her head to the ground, "Don't try to escape!" yelled the man holding her down. A puff of green smoke goes up and hits clouds, the green puff of smoke goes around the whole world. "What the hell was that?" they all thought. The man with the gun shoots the woman in the heart. "Why did you kill her?" a man asked. People would have heard the gun shots by now, the man answered the five men run off.

Later that morning at 6am, a group of people walking along dessert street notice the dead bodies. They look with shock. A man goes to the woman, crouches down and checks for her pulse. Others do the same to the man. The dead man and dead woman are sitting up. "Are you ok?". The woman asked the man who is now a zombie. "Your eyes are blood red" the woman said. The zombie man bites her. Then the woman bites the man ripping out their necks.

6 months later

NOW it has been 6 months since the zombie apocalypse. Barbra, her friends and other survivoros, 21 of them in total, they are all out in the open, with weapons at the ready. They all entered a restaurant and two men named Bob and Darren were grabbed by two zombies that were on the ground. Bob and Darren killed the zombies that were holding on to them with knives they were armed with. The recently turned Zombies run out of the kitchen and are quickly killed. Volda goes into the kitchen and sees a woman lying on the ground with a wound on her shoulder that resembles a bite mark. "Please do it I don't want to be on this earth anymore, and I don't want to become one of them", answered the Woman. Volda hands over her handgun to the woman with pure fear in her eyes. "I am just glad I made it this far" then she shoots herself in the head. Then a bunch of running and walking zombies came out, and Bob closed the door and locked themselves inside the restaurant just in time.

They came up to the door and windows, just missing getting inside. 300 or more zombies are flooding the streets surrounding the restaurant. Bob and a woman named Bella check the back of the restaurant. "We stay for now until we know what to do," said Bella. "We can't stay too long, the glass will break" Barbra said quietly. Jess and Holly keep look out with binoculars through the window. There is a swarm of zombies that are beginning to surround the restaurant. Jess desperately looking for the perfect place to find safety sees some tall trees in the distance. Jess whispers to Holly "I can see something in the distance, it looks like a forest..." Holly peaks through Jess's binoculars and sees the forest in the distance. Holly races over to Robert, "Robert, we need you to make some noise to distract the zombies as we know they fall for it all the time, so we can get out alive and seek safety in the forest" Holly said. "Where do you suppose we go as the zombies will just follow us - we could be going to a place with more zombies," said Tina. Robert found nothing to distract the zombies. "Let's use the dead woman for food - maybe it could work" questioned Darren. A man and woman grab the dead body the others get out a gun.

A woman named Tegan unlocks the door and opens it in a hurry. The man and the woman with the dead body, throw the dead body out of the restaurant. They see some zombies fall for it and the 21 of them run out of the restaurant. As They all run out of the restaurant and start shooting the zombies dead. As they keep running someone notice something behind a tree. A man was hiding behind a tree who comes out of hiding with a knife killing a woman' who was running into the forest. Holly gets revenge so she shoots him in the heart and more zombies go to the dead bodies. The group started with 21 now has 20 people in the group. They are all now in the forest running with their guns. Tina turns shooting some zombies down. She runs out of bolts and takes out a knife, killing a zombie stabbing the zombie in the eye up that hill. So they continue to run as fast as they could. 20 people come out of nowhere and start shooting the zombies dead. Then more zombies are heard, "come with us" a woman yells to the 20 of them. The people from the bottom of the hill run up the hill and zombies follow the 40 of them. "Run to this large gate" they open up. The 40 of them run inside then two men close the large gates. Zombies come to close gates.

Chapter two - home for now

They are noticing some people in the town. "I thought that you 20 were the only people living here" Barbra questioned. "No there are about 2,000 people living here" the woman replied. The woman took a pause. "About 100 of us found it since the being of the zombie outbreak, then it has been building from there. Today we found you guys so now there are 2020 of us" the woman spoke. They walked forward and the people up the gates stopped shooting and came back down ladders. "How did you know we were there?" asked Holly. "We didn't" answered the woman, "we were going that way anyway but then we spotted the zombies and you guys". Seeing too many zombies outside the forest we go and get food from restaurants. "When we need more food, we will try again before night-time.

My name is Aril". There was a pause "we need a lot more people to come and help" Aril spoke, "we can help" Barbra said. They were shown to their rooms "there is not much space left for many more" the woman spoke. Three more places for people to live they all got settled in the place had showers.

There were some fires around the place for people to relax about. A man a woman and a teenage girl 16 years old were the last to be welcomed in. They found it in the last minute "how long are we going to be here?" holly asked Barbra the leader. "For as long as we can" answered Barbra. "She is happy about that" Cambrian started to sing "La La La La Oh Oh La". Then Holly remembers life before the zombie, and she thinks about how she was about to go to work not feeling existed for the shift ahead. Knowing that Broke Taner was working that day (he is only there Sundays 6 am to 3 pm) then she has to put up with him for 9 hours of her shift she only gets one hour with not having him there she has a 10-hour shift. Holy goes down-hill turns right then goes inside the restaurant, and then a couple of hours went past. Some zombies go past the restaurant.

A scream came out of nowhere and people came running. A zombie was biting the face of a man. My husband then zombie walks up to the woman. Holy stabs a zombie in the back off head, then Holly recognised the husband was there at the restaurant. The first day at the zombie apocalypse she stabs the man in the head. "You're going to need to do better than that if you want to live here by even killing a loved one" spoke Barbra. They all got the message after that so many people were surrounding the dead bodies. Then there was a large bang at the front entrance of the place. The following day people run off to then entrance two men went up steps they saw 50 people.

"Can we come in" a man asked. "No sorry" one of the men from inside replied. Another man spoke not enough room a man from inside the town please the man behind the walls. "Ok" the man said. Behind the walls the 50 of them start walking away, "this is our home". Zombies come out of the trees from the forest. They both shoot arrows down at them killing all the 15 zombies. We do own this home" Barbra said.

Chapter three - must leave

It is now night-time and 1,000 people come to the large gates. It is 7 pm and a man knocks on the door. People come rushing to the door. Two women climb up. "There is no more space up here", a woman said firmly. "My name is Mitch, we are coming in whether you like it or not", shouted Mitch. He takes out a gun, points the gun at one of the girls. The girls walk back up and open the gates. Mitch comes in. "This is our home now" Mitch said with pride. The woman takes out her gun "we have no space here" the women said. "Leave now or we will kill you" the women spoke. "Ok, ok" the man said". He turns around and starts walking away, then quickly turns around and shoots the woman in the heart. "Let her turn" Mitch spoke. Then everyone with Mitch took out their guns shooting the others who came to the gates.

"Let them all die, let them all turn" Mitch yelled. Then people in their homes who were out and about heard the 1,000 of them run inside. People inside were fighting back dead bodies all over the place. People came running with guns shooting down whoever was with Mitch. "Fight back guys" Mitch shouted. It seems everyone knows who to shoot. They are so good, thinks Barbra. "We all must leave" she telly Holly "we must find a new home tonight and get them back for this one day". Then they round up some people to get out of here. They gather up 200 people all up - it is all they could gather. Some of Mitch's people block the exits with 100 of them. About half the men said they preferred to die and the people who were blocking the exit were all shot dead. Then Barbra and the 199 of them ran out, "we have to go everyone else is a goner - we will get them back one day" Holly screamed. The 200 of them start running away and 50 more people escape.

Mitch and his people lost people, as well the 550 of them left they killed. 350 people are kneeling on the ground when a woman comes to Mitch. "They killed a lot of us, and some escaped. "What do we do with savories" asked the woman, "let them get bitten so 1,870 zombies get to 350". "I am sure none will live" answered Mitch. "What if they escape?" asked one of the men. "Ok now we are going to tie them up" he said. So, they tied the 350 up. The dead were getting back up, and the 550 get out of there. The zombies are walking towards the 350 of them. They were removed of their weapons and the zombies come biting, all 350 of them.

Everyone can hear the screams. The zombies heard it. The town is lost just to let you know it is the same man the first time 13 months ago. This time now he found other groups who joined him to make 1,000 people. "We will get our revenge one day" Barbra said. The group found a hotel.
