

The Mandalorian and Baby Yoda's Tatooine adventures.

By Anonymous Chille

Five years after the fall of the empire, Mando and Baby Yoda are in the razer crest drop out of hyperspace and arrive on Tatooine.

They landed on Mos Espa space port to see Boba Fett about the pirate raiders terrorising villages.

Mando says to Boba Fett good to see you again, so Boba Fett responds to him I need your help getting rid of these pirates.

Mando walks with Boba Fett and Baby Yoda rides in his pod for 20 mins until they get here to the village.

When they arrive at the village, the pirates were already here robbing credits from the villages.

The villager says that they got more pirates invading in our huts.

They start blasting at the pirates to prevent them from robbing.

The ten pirates started to blast at them but the armour they wear is blaster proof

Mando and Boba see that there are too many pirates, and decide to flee to a small house.

The pirates start to blast the windows, and the pirates are looking for them.

While the pirates are looking for them, Mando and Boba jump from the roof and use their flamethrowers to back them away.

Baby Yoda uses the force to throw the pirates' blasters away.

The pirates are forced to run back to their ship and flee away from Tatooine.

The villagers retrieve their credits and thank Mando and Boba for getting the pirates away from them.

After this Boba goes to the former palace of Jabba the Hutt while Mando and Baby Yoda depart Tatooine to find out what the other Mandalorians are doing.

Mos Espa is once again at peace.

